

Program Outcomes

1. Ability to recognize the basic functions of financial institutions and instruments
2. The ability to discuss why financial systems exist and how they can be structured
3. Ability to plan correctly in the activities to be carried out in economy, banking and finance, to be able to do business division and to fulfill his / her role as a team player in the given time
4. Ability to understand the general operations of banks as an institution, the activities carried out in banks and the concepts related to banking
5. Ability to bring solutions to problems encountered in economics, banking and finance
6. The ability to use quantitative and qualitative methods to make decisions
7. Ability to bring together the appropriate factors to achieve, analyze and apply the necessary knowledge to conduct research
8. The ability of an entity to record and interpret financial transactions
9. Ability to use scientific research knowledge and skills at the highest level in academic studies
10. Ability to understand and manage risks in financial markets